#10 Lee Hawkins Duke Baseball Games

Erwin Wins Second Straight Victory Over Wright's, 13-6

Two City League Teams Play Here Again Tonight

Erwin Auditorium chalked up its second straight victory of the City League playoffs last night by turning back Wright's Automatic, 13-6, in Durham Athletic Park.

The third game of the best four-out-of-seven-game series will be reeled off tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. The fourth and other games, if necessary, will be played next week.

Erwin scored in every inning except the sixth and seventh to win going away, taking a 2-to-0 lead in the first inning and never trailing.

Pitcher Hawkins sparked Erwin's victory with four hits.

KUGLER GOES WELL CATS BLANK DUKE

Blue Devils Shutout for First Time this Season; Hawkins Hurls Last Game for Duke

Doc Kugler was in excellent form as the Wildcat nine handed the Blue Devils their first whitewash of the season Monday afternoon. That same old Davidson jinx seemed to reign over the Devils as they failed to connect with the ball, while the Davidson club took advantage of the Duke pitcher's wildness and also bunched their hits to score a 5 to 0 win.

Lee Hawkins, who probably started the last game of his college career, was unusually wild and although he gave up only six hist his wildness accounted for part of the scoring.

The Presbyterians scored once in the first inning on a hit batter, a sacrifice to second, a fielder's choice and a sharp single that brought him across the plate. The Blue Devils staged an attempted comeback after Harrington and Dean had flied out in Duke's half of the initial inning. Werber single and Kistler followed close behind with another hit to center, but Miller caught Werber trying to reach third on Henry's hit.

Davidson counted twice in the fourth on an error, a hit, a base on balls and a sacrifice. They tallied the other two in the eighth as the result of three hits, an error and sacrif the freshmen game with Carolina, Coombs fanned seventeen men just as he did in the game with State. In the varsity game with State last Saturday Jenkins, Duke's pitcher, hit a homer in the tenth to win the game, after striking out twelve batters. Coombs knocked out a homer in the ninth after striking ou

Asheboro Outfit Scores In Sixth Inning To Beat Lucky Strikes By 2 To 0

Johnson Singles To Drive In Both Markers As Calloway Bests Allen In Mound Duel—Eagles Will Represent State In National Meet

Greensboro, July 15.—(AP)—The McCrary Eagles, of Asheboro, scored two runs in the sixth inning here tonight and won the North Carolina semi-pro baseball championship by defeating the Lucky Strikes, of Durham, 2 0 in Memorial stadium before a crowd of 8,000 fans.

The Lucky Strike team was undefeated until last night when they bowed to McCrary Eagles making an additional game necessary. Lucky Strike had defeated McCrary in the first game of the tourney on July 1, the only defeat the Eagles suffered.

Had Lucky Strike won the game last night, the tourney would have ended then with the Luckies champion. The McCrary Eagles will represent North Carolina in the national semi-pro tourney in Wichita, Kas., August 13-26.

REAL MOUND BATTLE

Tonight's contest was a beautiful mound duel between Calloway of the state champions, and Allen. The former allowed seven hits, two of them doubles, while the Lucky Strike righthander permitted only six blows, all singles. Calloway struck out nine while Allen fanned four. Each issued four bases on balls.

The battle was decided in the sixth when Johnson drove out a single with Harrington and Cheek, both of whom had hit, on the sacks. Before and after that time Allen was in no danger. Johnson and Harrington secured four of McCrary's six hits, each getting two bingles. Hunter paced the Luckies' attack with two hits.
