"Sink The Seadogs" (Wait till next year!)

The Morehead City High School basketball team compiled a record of ten wins and eight losses during the 1962-63 season. In these games, along with some fine basketball, the squad exhibited fair play and good sportsmanship. The 10-8 record is better than it seems because four of the defeats were to the third ranked Class AA team in the state, the Beaufort Seadogs, and one defeat was to the runner-up in the Class A tournament, East Duplin High School. The wins included impressive ones over James Kenan High School in the Holiday Tournament at Kenansville, Havelock in the Conference Tournament, and Charles B. Aycock in the District Tournament at Goldsboro. The team had the usual characteristic of talking to one another to relieve the pressure while on the court. These chants such as, "It ain't bad, podnuh!" and "What'd we come up here for?" became familiar sayings around MCHS. The team was dominated by lower-classmen who will not forget the humiliating four defeats to arch-rival Beaufort. With this in mind the old chant may take on a new ring, "WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR!"
