

Tides to Host Red Sox In Seashore Headliner

THE CARTERET Tides will host the always tough Newport Red Sox at Swinson Park in Sunday's top attraction in the Seashore Baseball League.

The short fences should give the long-hall hitters of both clubs something to shoot for and the pitchers something to worry about.

RED SOX manager Donnie Aycock will probably start "intellect" Bruce Maness or his youthful fireballer Jay Garner. The Tides will likely counter with Big Jim Solomon or Andy Raynor. Look for lots of scoring as the league's two top hitting teams meet.

In other action, the Beaufort Seadogs with their improved infield will entertain the Braves of Salter Path. The Seadogs say their defense is ready and hope they can score enough runs off the Braves' southpaw pitching ace George Viereck.

AT BÓGUE, the Western Blues will try to upset the league-leading Eastern Blues who will be without the services of their leading batter, Kenny Lewis, who broke his hand last Sunday in the Red Sox game.

Crawford Pigott and pitcher Dallas Arthur are also still recuperating from last week's injuries and will probably see only limited action.

EASTERN BLUES manager Wilson Davis will rely on his right-handers, George Zurenko and Richard Arthur, to preserve their victory string. The Western Blues demonstrated that they are ready to play ball now with their fine showing last week against the Braves at Salter Path.

This could be a week of upsets.
