#15 1941 October 8 - Jack Gardner, Beaufort Member of the American Team Playing in Cuba

Wednesday Morning, October 8, 1941

THE HAVANA

YANKS SCORE BUT LOSE

The United States team lost its last chance to win or tie for the world amateur baseball championship by dropping an eleven-inning game 4 to 1 to Panama yesterday. Jack Gardner, the hard-hitting American fielder, was snapped above scoring the lone U. S. run on Jim Blair's single in the eighth inning of the hard-fought battle. The victory sent Panama into a second-place tie with Mexico.

THE greatest international baseball tourney ever held is really such, for the players of the nine nations engaging in the Series have given the thousands of fans many thrills and spectacular plays ... The biggest disappointment of the Series are the Nicaraguans . . . An excellent team during the past two years, the Nicans met stiffer competition in Havana this year and its pitching staff hasn't been able to hold the rival sluggers ... VENEZUELA, Mexico and the Dominican Republic brought top-notch teams to Havana, and the case of the Venezuelans and Mexicans is particularly notable in view of their weak showing last year, ... The Dominicans have been the biggest surprise of the tourney... What a snappy fast aggressi and light-working turned up with ...

BASED on what ready our all-star ries would include stars ... Pitchers M reno, of Cuba; Alon Canonico of Venezu of Mexico ... First honcy, of Panama, man Napoleon Rey shortstop Rafael Vargas, minican Republic, and th man Mosquito Ordeñaza, ... Fleitas, of Cuba and I Panama, catchers ... On Gardner, of the U. S. Robinso Nicaragua, Victor Barnett, of ama, and Chucho Ramos, of zuela ...