Comfort Plays Here
Next Sunday

By A R RICE

Although Roland Longest had a few bad early innings he greatly improved as the game advanced and emerged victorious with the Beaufort team over Newport 3 to 1. In his first five innings the local flinger allowed the five hits that were gathered off his right-handed delivery all day. During the last four innings, from the sixth through the ninth, no invader reached first. Longest fanned 10 to his opponent, Culpepper's 2.

C. Hassell, regular infielder (catching in the place of the regular injured backstops on the local squad) let a third strike get by him in the second and the man eventually scored. Beaufort's tallies came in this fashion: Clark was safe in the sixth when G Lockey muffed his hoist and, after advancing on a fielder's choice scored on Ralph Hassell's infield hit. With things tied up and a great pitchers battle being staged before the fair assemblage of spectators Beaufort staged a rally in the eighth that counted two runs on hits by Willis, R. Hassell, F. Longest and G. Hassell. The locals collected 9 safe ties altogether.
