THREE HIRLERS

Belue, Jenkins And Hawkins All Want To Pitch Opening Game-Young Outfielders Are Giving Regular Gar deners Trouble

Belue, Jenkins and Hawkins, Duke's three veteran southpaw pitchers all want to pitch the opening game with Springfield here Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. For the past two days these men have been disregarding cold weather and putting the ball across with everything on it.

Coach Coombs is letting the three veterans work but it is likely that there will be no choice made. He will probably use all three of them in the opener with Spring. field, each working three innings. Ceach Coombs said that he wanted to get them all three in shape for nine-inning assignments during the full schedule next week.

When the spring practices of the Duke team started it appeared that all berths were definitely cinched by veterans. However, Ed Howell, sophomore catcher and Pat Rochelle, a candidate for catcher who was moved to outfield, are waging battle on the veterans who are filling these posts. It will enable Coach Coombs to have two catchers which he claims are needed in a long schedule like

In right field, Tom Bennett, a veteran, had things going his way until Pat Rochelle was shifted to outfield by Coach Coombs. Now every inning except the first and it seems likely that these two men last night to walled the will alternate in that position we is a hard hitter and can
