GO TO NATIONAL MEET

By JACK HORNER.

The McCrary Eagles, of Asheboro, are today the proud championship semi-pro team of North Carolina.

In one of the sweetest games witnessed during the entire statewide semi-pro tournament, which opened on July 1, the Eagles, with Calloway, bulky righthander, elbowing the way, whitewashed the Lucky Strike team, of Durham, last night at Memorial stadium before over 7,000 cheering fans in the finals of the tourney by the margin of 2 to 0.

An error by Sokolowski, Durham shortstop, in the sixth stanza, paved the way for the two "precious runs," thereby giving the Asheboro nine the honor of representing the Tar Heel state in the national tournament at Wichita, Kans., August 13 to 26.

Loss Is Heartbreaker.

The loss for the Durham cigarette nine was a heartbreaker, even more so for Allen, who twirled a nice game although losing. The righthander allowed seven hits, one more than his teammates garnered off Calloway, and struck out five batsmen. Calloway, who won his third triumph during the tourney out of
