

Morehead City Sweeps Twin Fare From Havelock Team

Morehead City took both ends of its doubleheader with Havelock over the weekend, winning Saturday's game, 5-1, and taking Sunday's encounter, 10-0. Both games were played in Morehead City, although Havelock took its turn at bat as the home team in Sunday's whitewashing.

Jimmy Webb, who pitched Saturday's win, just missed chalking up a shutout by virtue of three Morehead errors in the eighth inning. Webb allowed but six hits and fanned 12 batters in the process of winning. Harry Salter did the catching.

Fred Taylor did the hurling for Havelock and Chuck Kohlbecker called the signals.

Morehead opened the scoring with one in the initial frame. Francis Stoy doubled over the short rightfield wall and took third on an infield out. Jack Gardner's fly to left brought in Stoy with the run.

The game remained on close terms until Morehead broke out with four tallies in the last of the seventh.

Piggy Smith singled and took second on an infield out. Stoy smacked another ground rule two-bagger over the fence and took third on consecutive free passes to Wayne Benton and Gardner. Joe Hill promptly singled in two runs and moved Gardner to third. Hill then stole second, and when Kohlbecker's throw was wild, Gardner scored.

Errors were responsible for the lone Havelock run in the eighth session. Anderson singled and was forced at second by Kohlbecker. Third baseman Smith threw wide on Joe Pyzgodzinski's roller, pulling Brinson off the bag at first, and when Kohlbecker attempted to take third, Brinson tossed back to Smith but Piggy dropped the ball as he made the tag, making it a double error for Smith.

Pyzgodzinski then stole second, and after Salter made his peg to shortstop Footsy Palmer, Kohlbecker broke for home. Palmer returned the ball to the plate, but not only was it late, but wild for an error.

Clifton Sharpe turned in a beauty of a pitching performance in Sunday's contest. The Morehead lefty allowed but three meaningless singles, the last of these coming in the third inning, after which Sharpe hurled six and one third innings of no-hit ball.

Sharpe struck out 12 batsmen and walked five, which is good control for a pitcher who is usually troubled by wildness.

Morehead started things off with two in the first and two more in the second. In the first, Stoy walked and stole second. After taking third on an infield out, Stoy came in on Gardner's double, and Gardner himself tallied on a single by Palmer.

In the second, Smith and Salter came through with consecutive base knocks, to put men on first and second. Sharpe then sacrificed both men along. Smith tallied on an infield out and Salter came in when Benton singled.

There was no further scoring until Morehead cashed in five in the sixth stanza. With two out, Sharpe singled and Stoy got a life via shortstop Sammy Russell's miscue. Benton singled in Sharpe, and Benton took second on the throw-in to the plate, putting men on second and third.

Gardner then received a deliberate base on balls to load the socks, setting the stage for Hill, who promptly unloaded them with a base-clearing two-bagger to center.

Jack Gaskins then came in to relieve starter Odell Morton for Havelock. Palmer greeted Gaskins with a double to left center to score Hill.

Morehead's final run came in the ninth on a double by Hill, a single by Palmer, and a forecourt scoring Hill.
