

County League Reduced to Five Team Circuit

The Carteret County Baseball League was reduced to a five-team circuit yesterday when the Twin Cities entry dropped from the league. The team folded when no one would accept the financial responsibility.

The three managers that the team has had so far all say that they lost too much money to consider trying again and no one else is willing to take a gamble.

Umpires' fees and baseballs and equipment cost a team about $30 for each home Sunday. Twin Cities took up $2.20 at its last home game in Morehead City. They split with the Coast Guard, winning the first game and dropping the second one to the third place team in the league.

When Twin Cities dropped from the league it caused one team in the league to be idle each week. This week it had a home game with Smyrna-Harkers Island.

Sunday will see Atlantic at Newport to play the Coast Guard and Salter Path at Cherry Point to play MTRG.
