

Tidewater Champs To Meet All-Star Nine

Marshallberg to Encounter Kinston In Twin Match Tomorrow And Sunday

Strong aggregations of the season's baseball stars will be assembled when the Tidewater League champions, from Marshallberg, clash with the Kinston All-Stars in a post-season two-game series at Smyrna tomorrow and Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

Hurling for Marshallberg will be "Ace" Harris, winner of three games in the recent Tidewater League playoffs; James Webb of Morehead City; Clarence Salter who pitched for Sanford in the Tobacco League; Pate and McKamey, Marshallberg standbys.

Barry Jones, who played for Anderson, S. C., and Bobbie Wilson, formerly of the Baltimore Orioles, will be stand-outs on the newly formed Kinston club which brings together many star players from that area.

Others on the All-Star nine, besides Jones and Wilson, will include: Sam McLowhorn, Pete Peters, Lou Herrington, Clay Proon, Incent Jones, "Lefty" Gouldin, Bob Cohen, Tommie Pritchard.

Hunger's Labor Lest

LONDON — (AP) — Miss Elizabeth Diaper arrived in food-short England from Nairobi with a precious package. She had flown nearly 5,000 miles holding it carefully on her lap.

In Buckingham Palace Road she dropped it—and a double-decker bus squeaked over a pound of butter, a pound of tea, a pineapple and a dozen eggs.
