

Whose house? East house! The Mariner football team lift their helmets to celebrate the victory against the Swansboro Pirates. This is usually a pre-game ritual, but they were very proud of their first win, so, they performed it again after the game.

Ouch! "My shin was bleeding, and as Mrs. Hannula was wrapping my leg up, she said something funny and I started laughing!" said Jason Simmons. He was injured when someone's cleat stuck in his shin during the Homecoming game. But the thing he will remember most, is winning the game!

Back row: John Davis, Gerard Osborn, Mark Merrick, Gary Fetter, Steven George, Jason Simmons, Timothy Morris, Daniel Owens. Middle Row: Coach Conway, Albert Loud, Michael Tyler, Terrell Henry, Christopher Salter, Edward Ellison, Christopher Plair, Adam Wade, Coach Smith. Front row: Quinton Collins, Vincent Davis, Devin Daniels, Joel Hancock, Carlton Nolon, Frank Christian, Marcus Williams.

High 5! Two proud Mariners give each other high fives as they celebrate a touchdown. This was the night they had their proud victory against Swansboro. It just so happens it was also on homecoming night.

Coach's Corner

"As a program we made tremendous advances this year. The players grew and became better men and players as each week passed. I really enjoyed my first year at ECHS, and I look forward to being a part of the rise to the top at ECHS."

"Despite being out-manned throughout the season, our defense never gave up. We showed great intensity and derive, and many players stepped up to the challenge before them."

"I'm really proud of the kids this year."

Although the record doesn't reflect it, the kids made tremendous strides each week. They never gave up."

"This is a great group of players and that has made coaching fun."

oming on se which
For those layers in s usually ansboro,