- ❖ 1938 played professional ball with Mt. Airy, N.C., with the Cincinnati Reds farm team.
- ❖ After World War II, Claude played with the Marshallberg TWL Team.
- ❖ The characteristic that best describes Claude from the first inning to the last was his hustle – the early edition of Pete Rose.
- ❖ Played during the times of the economic depression and recovery in Marshallberg, when entertainment was confined largely to books, play and baseball.
